OMG!!!

I LOVE this yarn. Had to have it. But, what can I make with it?

GRRRLLL...Believe me... I get it! You are exploring the yarn shop, or maybe even trolling ETSY, and you see the an awesome skein of handmade yarn. I am talking absolute love at first sight.

Sure, it might be a little pricey, but you

HAVE TO HAVE IT. Chances are buying an entire sweater's worth of this special yarn is not an option. But, then what can you knit with a limited amount of awesome?

My handmade yarn business was born out of my own knitting obsession in that began in earnest in 2002. I loved studying patterns and theories behind garment construction. As my love turned towards handmade yarns, I realized it is not always easy to shoehorn the unpredictabilities of a hand dyed or handspun yarn into a pattern that was designed for the predictabilities of commercially spun and dyed yarns. Thus began what has become an ongoing study of knitware design using handmade yarns.

What I have pilled together here is a quick list of my favorite patterns out on the internets that will work with UrbanGypZ yarn. Please note most of these patterns are not by me.

However, they all contain links to either web pages or Ravelry pages set up by the designer or one of the designer's distributors. I have also included notes on any alterations that I feel may be needed to make the pattern work better with handmade yarn.

This is a personal list. Most of the patterns are for adults. I do not have kids, so I really do not knit anything for wee ones. I am not sponsored by any designer that I have listed. I do not get a commission for promoting these patterns. Some of them are free, many are not. I have also included the handful of my own patterns in this list. I am indicating these things with these symbols:

This pattern is not free. You will have to pay something

UrbanGypZ Sock Yarn

including Urban Standard Sock, SWMerino+SeaCell, S. American Sock, Twinkle Toes Sock, SWMerino+Bamboo

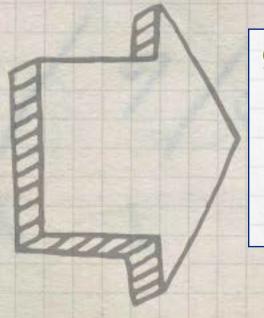

My first love for dyeing yarn started with sock yarn. It just seems a shame that my favorite hand dyed yarns, especially in some of my luxurious yarn bases, would be hidden in my shoes. I would much rather use that kind of awesome in the garment. So listed below are a bunch of patterns using sock yarn that are not socks.

2-4 skeins sock

My hand painted sock yarns are dyed in small limited edition dyelots of 2-4 skeins. Even within the same dyelot, you may need to knit 2 yarns alternating rows. The fabric knits up like TV static(as opposed to self striping)

- 1. $Kit Camisole
- 2. Thigh-high Footless Socks
- 3. $101 Cross-Over Rib Top
- 4. $Coisir Tank
- 5. Elfe Uses two colorways
- 6. SOrange Sorbet Shawl
- 7. Inamorata
- 8. Summerfly Two color option is super-cute!

9. UGZ UrbanGypZ's Basic Sock Formula

Truth be told,, when I knit socks, I make really super boring, generic socks. You can download the anti-pattern I use here. It is a formula that works with any size yarn, needle and foot.

10. $Knitting Socks With Handpainted

Yarn by Carol Sulcoski A simple Ravelry search will yield dozens of awesome sock patterns using hand dyed sock yarn. As I mentioned, I make really boring socks. But, of the patterns I have found, my favorites can be found in this book. I highly recommend it.

- 11. $Thalia
- 12. $Allegiance
- 13. $Paseo
- 14. $Newland Tank
  Uses two colorways
- 15. Kaleidoscope
- 16. Frost Thread
- 17. $Kaskad
  Uses three colorways
- 18. Tailored Cardigan
- 19. $Raiun
- 20. $Fager
- 21. Fabel
- 22. Foggy Seas Scarf
- 23. $Hoopla!

Super cute with 3-4 colors

- 24. $HRH Kate's Shawl
- 25. $Matcha
- 26. Waves of the Atlantic
- 27. $Levnadslust

- 28. Multnomah
- 29. Shetland Shorty
- 30. $Traveling Woman
- 31. Mythos
- 32. Favorite Scarf Ever
- 33. $Imagine When
- 34. $Hitchhiker
- 35. Citron

Calls for lace, but would work well with SWMerino+ SeaCell sock

Up to 7 skeins sock

My monochromatic sock yarns are dyed in limited edition dye lots of 7 skeins. They only come in the So. American Sock base. You will still need to knit with 2 yarns at once alternating rows.

36. $Ravello
Uses two colorways

37. $Window To My Soul

38. $Obsidian

39. $Frisco Trail

40. $Boxy

41. $Ecuador

42. $Gillian Rock Skirt

43. $Swanbourne

44. $Crazyfoote Hoodie

45. One of my favorite ways to use my mono-chromatic sock yarn is in stranded colorwork. Using hand dyed yarn adds a wonderful depth to the fabric.

If there is only 1 skein of awesome sock yarn, and you do not want to make socks, then here are a few of my favorites. Most of these patterns I have selected with colorful hand painted yarn in mind. And to be honest, most of these patterns are shawlettes.

46. Very Basic 'Dancing at Lughnasa' Gloves

There are all kinds of ways to deal with thumb gussets.

This pattern is pretty much how I would do them. Just like my socks, I tend to make boring gloves

- 47. Armwarmers Basic, but awesome for handpainted yarn. Do them in chevron, moss, or half-linen stitch for interest.
- 48. $ Mrs. McKenzie
- 49. Serriform Scarf
  - & Shawlette
- 50. $ Maddau Scarf
- 51. $ Storm Warning Simple with beads!

52. $Dragon's Tail Shawl

particularly beautiful with colorful contrasty sock yarn. will look like spitting fire
One skein will make the small one

- 53. $ Vittorio
- 54. $ Wingspan
- 55. $ Calsada
- 57. 28's Big Sister 77
- 58. $ Not A Drop
- 59. $ Lazy Katy
- 60. Annis
- 61. $ The 7 small Shawl

Series This is series of ebooks by Rosemary Hill that uses one skein of sock yarn. I love them!!ng

UrbanGypZ Mini Skeins

There is something about mini skeins that look like little gems. These are always super popular at the shows.

Technically these patterns are good sock yarn stash busters. But if you have fallen hard for mini skeins too then here are some great way to showcase your favorites.

62. $The Bee Keeper

Quilt The pattern that started the mini skein madness

63. Quality in a Square

64. Sock Yarn Blanket

65. $Babette Blanket

66. Odds & Ends

Kerchief

67. $Finito Scarf

68. Mini Mania Scarf

69. $Mosaic Happy

70. Use them for contrasting heels and toes for your favorite hand knit socks.

Hand Painted So. American Yarn

Including Worsted and Lace Weights

I fell in love with yummy single ply South American yarns like Manos Del Uruguay and Malabrigo and set about finding a similar base.

Lace Weight Yarn

This yarn is usually dyed as a semi solid, with very low contrast variegations.

71. For the most part any pattern using

Malabrigo Lace will work with UrbanGypZ So.

American Lace yarn.

72. $Feather
Weight Cardigan

73. Citron

74. $Whisper

Cardigan

75. High Seas Stole

Worsted Weight Yarn

This yarn is usually very contrasty and colorful. And usually dyed as a One of a Kind.

76. UGZ $ TheMushroom Hat77. FebruaryLady Sweater

Pick 4-7 complimentary skeins, alternate yarns with every row to blend colorways.

78. Chickadee

79. My So Called Scarf

80. $ I love using this yarn for FreeformCrochet projects

Helping A Sister Out

Recycled Sari Fiber Yarn and Recycled Sari Ribbon

Recycled Sari Yarn

I love love love this yarn. But in the skein it feels like rope. I have found that steam blocking will break down the stiff finishing and the yarn softens tremendously and has an awesome drape.

81. UGZ Sari Silk Crescent

Shawl This is a free download and has a lot of tips for working with sari silk in general.

82. Clapotis I reduced the number of repeats and increased the needle size

83. Paris Loop

Sari Silk Ribbon

84. $ Peruvian Sari
Ribbon Jacket

85. $ Sari Ribbon Top

86. $ Recycled Sari Silk and Stone Bangles not a knitting or crochet pattern, but these bracelets are awesome.

87. I love using small lengths of this ribbon for necklace pendants, as chokers, or simply tied as a bracelet.

Use as fringe on a sari silk scarf or shawl.

UrbanGypZ Handspun

2 & 3-ply Yarn and Art Yarn

Finding patterns suitable for handspun can be tricky. The gauge is inconsistent, yardage available can bean issue. Be ready to improvise a little bit.

2 and 3-ply yarns

89. I find that many patterns designed for Noro are also suited for 2 and 3 ply hand spun yarns. The long run of colors knit up similarly.

90. Far Away, So Close

91. Three Movies Sweater

I would combine several skeins of complimentary yarns alternating rows.

92. Spiraling Stripes Hat

93. $ Alchemy Sunset

Shawl

94. $ Handspun Sweater

95. Spring Forward Fall

Back Raglan

96. Rainbows Eve Hat

97. Shawl Collar Vest

98. $ Out of the Box

Sweater Again, I would combine several skeins of complimentary yarns alternating rows.

Bulky Art Yarns

Super textural, and limited yardage, you may need to combine several similar yarns to complete a project.

99. UGZ The Icicle Scarf

An anti pattern I published in my newsletter.

100. Cai's Birthday Tiara

101. $Snowfall Winter Hat

102. Corespun Shawlette

103. $Kitten Beanie

104. Burrow

105. Ozark Ruffle Wrap

106. $Romeo and Juliet

Capelet

107. Hard Core Handspun

Hat

108. Upsy Daisy Shruglet

109. Boston Cowl

Stash Busters

One of my favorite things to do is combine my hand made yarns in a method I call BiO knitting. It is a great way to bust through your stash, and in my opinion hand made yarns stand out best when contrasted against plain commercially milled yarns.

110. The Stash Buster
Shawl this is another antipattern I have written that give you some tips and guidelines for combining stash yarns.

111. Loopy and Luscious Uses a thin lace yarn and a bulky yarn (like an art yarn

112. $Facet
113. Klaralund combine yarns randomly in lieu of the yarn called for.

114. $Circle Swing Coat
or Vest

115. Anything by Jane Thornley. Awesome stuff, just check her patterns and ebooks out.

I get it. It is hard to work hand made yarns into patterns designed for commercially made yarns. The unique textures and unpredictable colors are probably what drew you to these yarns. But when it comes to knitting with them, it is what frustrates you the most when trying work them into the wrong pattern.

How do I like to knit with hand made yarn?

I find myself going with my gut, letting go of the pattern's restrictions and improvising with whatever the yarn present to me with every stitch. It is about being brave enough to knit intuitively, and come away with an original design you love. I am calling this BiO knitting (Brave+Intuitive+-Original). It is about using your right brain and following your heart.

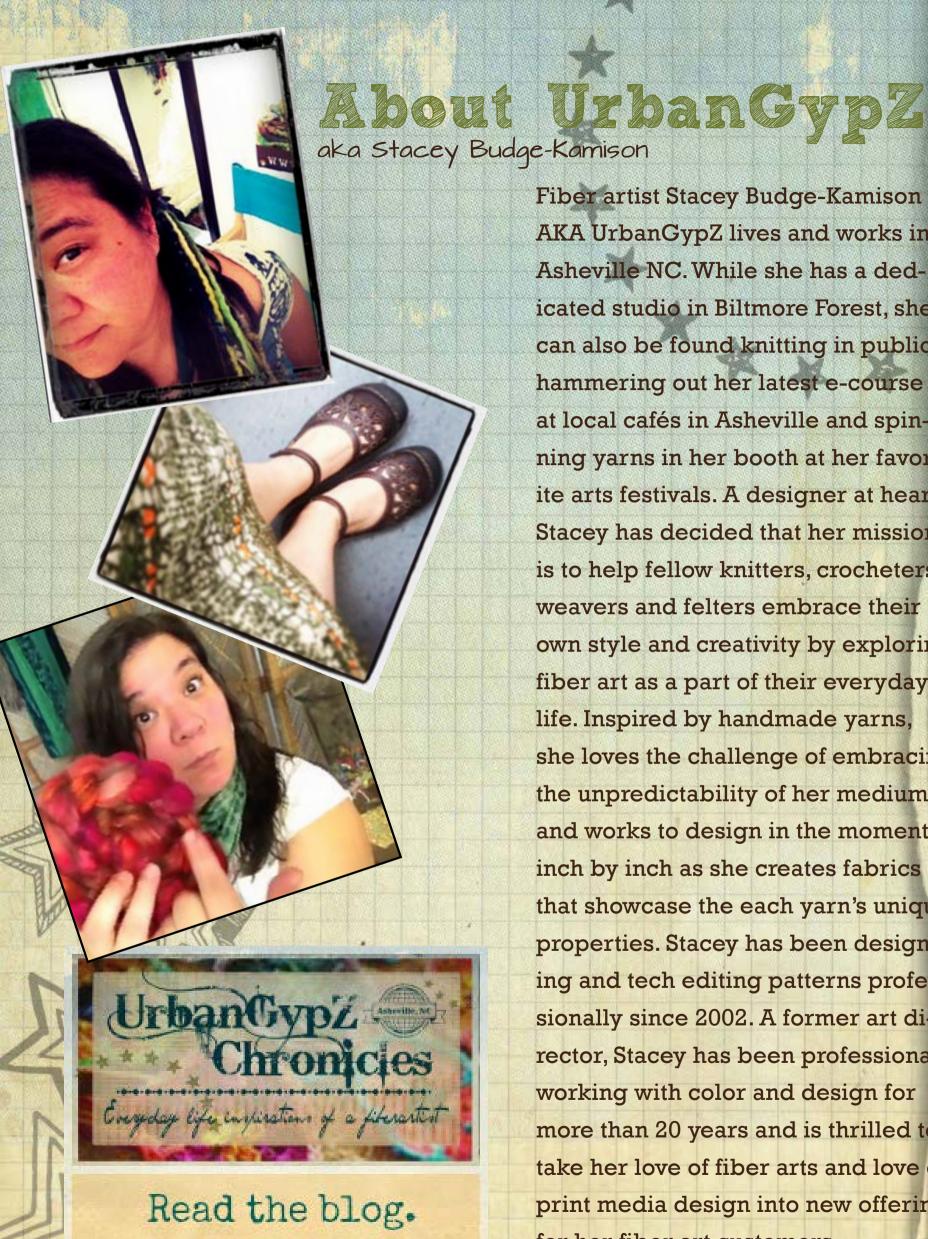

- Buy the yarns you love. Knit with them fearlessly without a pattern.
- Learn to work handmade yarns into fabrics you love, designs you will love to wear.
- Forget the knitting math. Spend more time knitting
- Works for knitting, crochet, weaving even felting.
- Go from Hobby Knitter to Fiber Artist/Fashion designer.

Fiber artist Stacey Budge-Kamison AKA UrbanGypZ lives and works in Asheville NC. While she has a dedicated studio in Biltmore Forest, she can also be found knitting in public, hammering out her latest e-course at local cafés in Asheville and spinning yarns in her booth at her favorite arts festivals. A designer at heart, Stacey has decided that her mission is to help fellow knitters, crocheters, weavers and felters embrace their own style and creativity by exploring fiber art as a part of their everyday life. Inspired by handmade yarns, she loves the challenge of embracing the unpredictability of her medium and works to design in the moment, inch by inch as she creates fabrics that showcase the each yarn's unique properties. Stacey has been designing and tech editing patterns professionally since 2002. A former art director, Stacey has been professionally working with color and design for more than 20 years and is thrilled to take her love of fiber arts and love of print media design into new offerings for her fiber art customers.
